Mission

- | We aim to be a market leader capable of generating high added value, with a strong position within the value chain, always promoting close collaboration with our customers and suppliers.
- | We aspire to grow in technological and manufacturing sectors beyond our core business. We face the future with confidence thanks to diversification both in our portfolio and in our markets.
- | Our Quality Promise
- | We want our customers to succeed. Our ideas drive technical progress. We develop innovative products and services without ever losing sight of quality, safety, and comfort.
- | Thanks to our commitment and our close relationship with customers, we guide them and represent an efficient and reliable partner for them.

Mission

Our Internal Organization

At AL-KO VTE, every company process has a process owner whose task is to ensure that the objectives for that process are achieved.

It is the responsibility of each process owner to involve every employee so that the objectives are systematically achieved.

Communication

AL-KO VTE considers internal communication an essential operational condition for involving people in achieving objectives.

Information must create value and enrichment for employees and company departments and concerns technical, commercial, economic, and organizational aspects.

Every new development, such as the launch of a project, a new product, a commercial campaign or an achieved result, is communicated quickly and promptly.

The methods and tools suitable for communication are defined in the Quality System (procedures) and, where these are absent, are established by management.
